Or More-Complete Tabulation of the Real Estate Assessments Secured. First District Personalty Report Will be Filed Later this Week. Board of Equalization and Appeals to Meet-Books Open to Public.

City Assessor W. E. Bowers, of the second district (south of the creek) has entirely completed his work for the current year, and yesterday fined his books with City Clerk Thomas O'Brien, jr. essor O. W. Helskell, of the first district (north of the creek) yesterday filed his realty books, but he has not yet entirely completed the personalty returns, and the books will not likely filed until Friday or Saturday of this

The following is a complete tabulation of the real estate assessments in both districts. In the first district, Assessor Heiskell scores an increase of $114,870 over last year's assessments, while in the second district, with less than half as much assessable property, Assessor Bowers' report shows an increase of $70,600 over 1898, being a total real estate increase of $185,470 over last year which is indeed an unusually good showing, and shows that both officials have done their work conscientiously. The table follows:

The largest increase was in the Sixth ward, $87,329, 65, and the smallest in the Eighth, $3,477 41. The tabulation on personalty in the second district fol-

Totals. $1.153,030 72 $250,412 63 $142,647 09 With an increase of nearly $330,000 on realty in both districts and personalty in the second, it can be seen that when the second district personalty report is made the increase over 1898 for the entire city on both personalty and real estate will likely reach beyond half a million dollars, a better showing than has been made in the past by any city

In accordance with a city ordinance the books of the assessors will remain at the city clerk's office subject to inspection by any citizen, between July 20 and July 31. famous "tramp" built and owned by the Richmond Lobuilt and owned by the Richmond Locomotive Works, is now running on the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, and has been in the Wheeling yards several times recently. Of this locomotive the Toledo Biade says: There is nothing extraordinary in her.size and construction. There are thousands of other compound engines in service, and many of them are larger, but none of them are occupying a more important sphere in the development of the locomotive than the "Richmond Tramp." With her, the Richmond Locomotive works is attempting to prove the superiority of the style of compound locomotives built by it. The company, it is said, is succeeding admirably in proving that the tonnage of a locomotive can be increased and the amount of fued decreased by compounding it.

In working out this problem, the Tramp has been in service on rgads from Maine to California. She has not been home for repairs since May, 1898. Still she is in splendid condition, and is hauling some trains on the Wheeling which make the paint on the simple which make the paint on the simple of caal she consumes, every point of call she uses, and every pound of freight she hauls is being kept. If, at the end of her test, it is found that the Tramp is a money-saver, when the Wheeling buys its new engines the company will purchase compound engines, built on the Tramp's lines.

But the Tramp has a still more impertant mission before her. She is to represent the Richmond Locomotive comotive Works, is now running on the Works at the Paris Exposition. Works at the Paris Exposition. She is going to Europe to show railroad managers of the old world that American locomotives have staying qualities as well as American solders. Before she returns home she will have seen more of the world than any other locomotive, and more than many people who claim to be extensive travelers. So far, she seems to be well qualified to represent this country in any quarter of the globe.

AN AUSPICIOUS OCCASION

Will be the Opening of Pleasant Valley Park Next Sunday.

The opening of Picasant Valley Park, formerly Scibert's Garden, as an amuse-ment resort will be one of the notable events of the season. Prof. Barnes and his famous diving elks and trained horse Trixle form a combination that none can compete with, and the idea of three elks ascending a tower fifty feet high and without urging, and with calm deliberation dive through the air into ten feet of water is a feat that is little short of marvelous.

Besides this attraction there will be a continuous band concert, beginning at 1 o'clock and lasting until 11 p. m., by Meister's band, which has been engaged by the park management. The diving elks will be the attraction all next week, every evening and Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday mati-

Work on the artificial lake was begun yesterday, and this morning the wiring will be commenced for the electric are lights, which will make Pleasant Valley Park as light as day.

SWIFT BEAR'S BAND

Commit Depredations and Then Race Back to Their Reservation.

CHICAGO, July 19 .- A special from Chadron, Neb., says:

A courier from the Cheyenne river, Bad Lands, forty miles north in South Dakota, brings a story of depredations committed by Swift Bear's band, who are racing for life back to the reservation, to escape arrest by the civil authorities, and by this time they are believed to be safely within the boundaries of the reservation. According to his story, one of the cowboys came across the band while rounding up cattle. Swift Bear ordered him to give up his horse, which he refused to do.
A rifle ball pierced his leg, killing his horse. After taking several head of cattle he was left by the band, and wandered until midnight before reaching camp. Cowboys immediately started on the trail of the fleeing band, overtaking them about twenty miles from camp. The Indians, who were well protected in the rocks, fired on the A battle was waged at long range from cliffs and rocks. The cowboys' horses, left in the valley below stampeded, and returned to the range leaving the posse of sixteen men with the Indians who outnumbered them five

Mike Riley, the courier, was detailed to escape through the Indians' line, and go for help. Twenty-five cowboys, heavily armed, at once started for the scene of war from the round-up camp, taking with them extra horses.

"I found your medicine a blessing to me and my family."

There are women who feel something like a grudge against the children, who, one after another rob their mother of her beauty and strength. Men do not usually realise how much the mother gives to each child to her own loss. Women accept it as part of the obligation of Nature and pay the debt grudgingly. Yet in Nature's plan every child is a new joy and fresh happiness. It isn't the children that steal the mother's strength. It is the unnatural drains and pains which weaken her.

Progressive Neighbor.

Yesterday afternoon at the handsome residence of Captain and Mrs. L. W. Inglebright, their daughter. Miss Ella, in her usual delightful manner, entermined a large number of young ladies of this city, who are known as the Thimble Bee, or as they are termed by their gentlemen Iriends, the "Bumble Bees." About thirty-five of the bees were present, including several from Bridgeport and Wheeling. One of the features of the afternoon's entertainment was a guessing contest, which proved to be highly enjoyable to all present. A large basket containing about forty different varieties of flowers, was placed in the centre of the room and a slip of paper and a penell presented to each guest, upon which each was to write the names of as many of the flowers as she knew. The successful contestant was Miss Cleed Anthony, who correctly named twenty-five out of the given forty, and the prise she received for her knowledge of flowers was a handsome boquet of roses, well worth the trouble. There was no consolation prize, but Mrs. S. G. Robinson and Miss Clara Sheets were tied for last place, having guessed every kind of flower they knew from a dandellon to a rose, were fortunate enough to have guessed correctly only eight flowers each. The afternoon was delightfully spent by all the Indies present and all left the realdence thinking that Miss Ella as an entertainer could not be outdone. Refreshments of an elegant nature were discussed during the afternoon.

The tow-boats that were held up along the river are pushing through to Pittsburgh on the rise. Among those that passed up yesterday was the Joe E. Williams, the largest tow-boat on western waters, which has been laid up for several weeks at Bloch's landing. She passed up at 6:20 a. m. A Louisville dispatch says: "During the year ending June 30 the traffic over the falls was something immense, to say nothing of what went through the canal. During the year 12.722 coal boats and barges passed over the falls: the total tonnage of all kinds amounted to $85,500 tons. Of this, 20,800,000 bushels of cotton and 1,515 tons of merchant iron."

A man was drowned off the tow-boat Sam Clark opposite the Top Mill landing yesterday morning between 7 and 8 o'clock. Another tow-boat had come down from Pittsburgh to assist the Clark, and the accident occurred when the boats met in mid-stream. In some way the man, whose name is Coffield, and whose home is in Sardis, Ohio, fell into the river and went under a barge. His body was not seen afterward. He leaves a widowed mother at Sardis. He was employed as a deckhand on the Clark.

Pittsburgh River News.
PITTSBURGH, July 19.—If the Ohlo river had risen another foot yesterday fully 5,000,000 bushels of coal would fully 5,000,000 bushels of coal would have been shipped for Cincinnati, but as it is, less than 200,000 bushels were started down the river. Yesterday afternoon a report came from Freeport that there was eight feet of water there at 1 o'clock and that the river was stationary. Several of the operators telephoned there to verify it, but repeated inquiries brought the information that here was only 6.7 feet. If there had been eight feet, it would have made close to nine feet at the Davis Island dam, and would have put the operators on Easy street. A foot makes a big difference in times like the present.

a big difference in times like the present.

Of the five towboats to leave for points below, the Tornado was the first to go, ieaving, here late yesterday afternoon with 1 light barge and eight flats of coal. She was followed by the Charles Clark, which had 8 flats, and the Delta with 7 flats early this morning. The Cruiser departed with 10 flats, and will take the tow to Cincinnati, being assisted by the Charles Clark. The Tornado and the Cruiser are the only boats bound for Cincinnati. The William G. Horner will go to East Liverpool to-day with a tow of flats. The Delta is taking her tow to that place.

The wickets at the Davis Island dam will not be raised for two or three days, and in the meantime several new wickets will be put in. There is a good stage of water in the harbor to-day, enough for all purposes. The clouds which hung about the city cheered the rivermen, who anticipate another rise in a few days.
